Anfield St. Bosco Koon Ying School – due to open August 2021

Making Education Special

The Anfield St. Bosco Koon Ying School accommodates KS1 and KS2 children with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities who require significant additional preparation to potentially enter mainstream education, and also those with higher needs who require more specialist provision. In addition to an adapted English National Curriculum, we provide an intensive, personalised learning environment, with a specific focus on the development of important life skills. We encourage the children to become increasingly independent, generate their own ideas, and explore their own creativity.

Support Services

As well as specialist teaching, we provide access to Speech and Language Therapy, Occupational Therapy, Physiotherapy and Music Therapy, as part of the learning programme. Teachers and therapists plan appropriate learning activities together as part of a multidisciplinary team, incorporating appropriate technologies, so that skills are consolidated within the classroom and there is consistency in approach. We also liaise, and work very closely, with other SEN organisations and schools in Hong Kong, such as Watchdog Hong Kong, Autism Partnership Hong Kong, ESF SEN Team, Child Development Centre, Heep Hong Society etc., in order to provide full support to our students and parents.

Our Students

The children may have a variety of different special needs which affect them cognitively and/or physically, for example, children with moderate learning difficulties which include:-

- Autism Spectrum Disorders
- Speech and Language disorders/communication difficulties
- Global Developmental Delay
- Cerebral Palsy
- Hearing and Vision impairment
- Physical Challenges

Student Outcomes

We aim to:

- Support our students to develop their communication, functional skills, social participation and emotional well-being
- Enable our students to access increased opportunities for inclusion at a later stage
- Help our students to achieve greater levels of independence
- Facilitate ongoing educational progress to enable all students to reach their full potential

The Environment

The school is a purpose-designed site in secure grounds which enable our students to have freedom, whilst maintaining their safety. Set in a small, local village, the site is peaceful and surrounded by greenery. We have 4 well-equipped classrooms, therapy rooms, soft play sensory room, hall, playground, sports' court and nature area.

Anfield St. Bosco Koon Ying School is based on understanding the individual needs of each child, tailoring provision to their specific needs, and nurturing their academic and social development. We are a warm and friendly school, committed to caring for each child's well-being, and all students are consistently encouraged to achieve to the best of their ability.
